Designed as a Living Organism

Isolation of floor units anticipate future seismic activity. Staggered juxtaposition maximizes views, as well as creates various 'green shelves' for rain capture, irrigation, and shading during summer months. These green shelves accomodate lush, climbing vines and vegetation for sound absorption and passive temperature control. Cast glass discs are embedded at the ground floor and parking slabs for natural light and weight reduction.

All Images ©1999-2009 HTDSTUDIO DESIGNOFFICE™ All Rights Reserved - For publishing permission email press@htdstudio.net

